Dear Parents/Carers,

As part of a Camden-wide review of special education needs provision, from the local authority is proposing to extend the existing Language Resource Base at Torriano Infant School into Torriano Junior School. This is proposed to take effect from September 2013.

The Language Resource Base at the Infants was established over ten years ago and supports children with specific speech, language and communication needs. The number of places in the new joint resource base will be increased, from eight to 12, which will enable children to continue receiving specialist support as they move up through the junior school.

Camden has launched a public consultation that runs until 14 June. If you haven't received the consultation document, please ask the office at either school. The document provides further information.

We do hope that you will support this positive initiative and if you have any questions or concerns, Helen Bruckdorfer and Gilly Robson will be pleased to discuss them with you.

Yours Sincerely

Chair of Governors
